The Working Time Regulations 1998 ("the Regulations")

require United Medicare Limited to limit your average weekly working time to 48 hours unless you agree with United Medicare that the limit shall not apply to you.

United Medicare wishes to have an agreement with you. It proposes an arrangement (which will apply until terminated by notice) on the basis that:

1. The 48 hour limit on average weekly working time will not apply to you;
2. You may terminate the agreement (so that the 48 hour time limit would apply to you) by giving the person at United Medicare to whom you usually report 4 weeks written notice.

Under the Regulations, United Medicare must keep records relating to your working time. This is the case whether or not you reach an agreement with United Medicare about waiving working time limits.

If you accept United Medicare's Proposal then please sign below. This document will then be the record of agreement between you and the Company.
